

Senate Ready To Confirm His Election, But Refuses To Meet House In Joint Session Until Plans Are Perfect For Work.

If Carrio and Castro would only join in a vaudeville "team" stunt it would bring greater joy. Carrio Nation has become an English music hall artist.—News Item.

Chicken Fanciers Delighted With the Show at West Side Rink.

In the teeth of the cold temperature, myriads of chicken men and their wives thronged the West Side rink today from all parts of the city and state, anxious to view the display of prize fowls and give a richly deserved boost to the chicken interest.
In this, the central point of the greatest chicken region in the southern portion of the state.
Quality fowls these—the patricians of chickenhood, and Judge Ben Myers concluded his detailed verdict upon them at high noon today. It takes the Judge two minutes and one-half to judge a bird. He jots upon a scorecard figures of exactitude regarding symmetry, weight or size, head and beak, eyes, comb, wattles and ear-lobes, neck, wings, back, tail, breast, body and buff, legs and toes, hardness of feather and crest and beard.
The exhibitors at the West Side Rink were as follows: Mr. Warner, of Whitewater, who presents a choice collection of Barred Plymouth Rocks, is a voucher for the fact that Janesville has a better show room than Milwaukee, in fact, better than any in the state.
The structure is heated by five large stoves that are cherry-color from morn till night. When the roosters strut and yawn, which is all the time when the phantoms isn't playing, they are only emitting strains of the exuberance of their good spirits—they have in their lexicon no such word as discomfort. And that is it to be a bird who is warm enough than to be the bird an epicurean might have in mind.
Only two days remain in which to witness these aristocrats of the barnyard. And there is, besides, an aggregation of pet stock that is worth journeying many miles to see, for it numbers a golden eagle, some sch-olies, a wild mallard, a trio of Belgian hares, and several representatives of canine species not often met with west of the Vanderbilt kennels.
Over and above the specimens of pet stock, there are a thousand entries of fowls of all varieties. They have been shipped to this exhibition by a class of men that is commendably zealous of the enlightenment of a flabby community upon chicken things in general—upon the growth, culture and advancement in methods along these lines. The industry has made appreciable strides of late, and to it the words of Colonel Sellers may be applied with more of truth than of dream: "There's millions in it!" A conception of what is being exhibited this week at West Side Rink may be obtained from the subjoined list of the winners among chicks and chickens, this being a complete record of the premiums awarded up to noon today.

MANY CONVENTIONS HELD FOR FARMERS

Madison to Be the Scene of Several Notable Gatherings of Farmers During Coming Ten Days.

Wednesday will demonstrate next Tuesday that it is an apple-growing section, when the members of the state horticultural society gather in Madison. The date for the meeting has been changed to a month earlier and it is believed this will ensure a large attendance. Over 200 delegates and members are expected to attend.

The sessions of the organization will be held in Grace Episcopal church guill hall and the display of fruit and produce of the members will be shown on the second floor of the hall.
Secretary Frederick Cranfield says the meeting has been planned on much the same lines as previous years.

Small Fruits First
The first day of the convention will be devoted to a discussion of the problem of growing small fruits. A paper will also be read that afternoon on "Fertilizers for Small Fruits," by C. H. Cook, president of the Michigan horticultural society. Wednesday attendance will be the annual business session.

During the following three half-day sessions various topics covering orchard management, marketing of fruit, landscape gardening, etc., will be presented.

Professor J. P. Danforth will speak on Commercial Gardening, Professor W. J. Green of Ohio, Secretary Geo.
T. Phipps of the Missouri society and others will take part. In addition to these the usual number of the society's members will speak.

To Meet Evenings
The evening sessions are to be held at 8 o'clock. On Tuesday evening Professor Livingston of the Plattville normal school and others will discuss the improvement of school grounds. On Wednesday evening the annual banquet or dinner will be held.

This, the most enjoyable feature of the convention in past years, has been moved ahead of the program this year to give every member who attends the session an opportunity to attend.
This annual dinner is for all members of the society. A good meal and good music followed by short after-dinner talks by entertaining talkers will constitute the program.

The best has been reserved for the last, the women's session which will occupy Thursday evening. The Avenue hotel will be headquarters for officers, delegates and members.
At the same time the annual convention of the Wisconsin State Hortieral premiums are offered for the

ANTONE LETER, CONFESSED BURGLAR, WANTED SOME-THING TO SHOW FOR JOB.

SENT TO PRISON FOR A YEAR

Thieves or Hoboes Broke Into the Old Barnes Warehouse Last Evening —Two Trials Adjourned to 20th.

"You've just admitted that the money was stolen from Mrs. Nelson—what's your objection to its being returned to him?" asked Chief Appleby of Antone Leter in municipal court this morning.

"I know, but I get a year to Wau-pau and you don't get the money," said the Chief, dryly, as he amplified the pocket-book containing about $4.70 in change and a ticket to Chicago into Henry Nelson's hat. "You get your pocket-book back and those plebeian pocket cards."

Leter, with the sulky air of one who is about to be hanged, must unwillingly deal with, refused the picture cards but took the empty purse.

The big six-footer decided this morning to amend his plea of "not guilty" to "guilty" and told the court that he had wanted to go away and look for a job and had planned the burglary in order to get the necessary cash. He helped scrub out the Nelson place Tuesday evening; went home about 11 o'clock and went to bed; got up at 2 o'clock; returned to the premises at the corner of Milwaukee and Jackson streets; removed a basement window from its sash with the aid of a jack-knife; forced his way to the main floor through a collar door; helped himself to the money in the cash-drawer; a box of cigars, a pipe and filled a pint bottle with whiskey; after taking several drinks of the same; went back to his room and packed his belongings; made his way to the North-Western depot; learned that the next train would leave for Chicago; bought a ticket; and then went over to Miss McCarthy's restaurant adjoining the St. Charles hotel where he was placed under arrest.

It was Night Patrolman Thomas Morrissey who noticed Leter in the depot sometime after four o'clock in the morning and asked him where he was going. The man's reply that he was going away to look for work and was going to catch the next train out, in any direction, struck him as suspicious. He was also interested when Leter, after learning from him that the next train out was a Chicago passenger leaving about five o'clock, paid for a ticket in nickels and dimes.
The officer knew that the man had been getting meals at the Ryder restaurant and learned there that he had been acting as a roustabout at Nelson's saloon. He therefore turned his steps thitherward and quickly came upon the evidence of the burglary. When arrested at the cafe, the man had thrown away the box of cigars to escape detection but had failed to get rid of a check which he had taken from the cash drawer.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES

"The Witching Hour," by Augustus Thomas, which will appear at the Myers opera-house tonight, is a great play. It is not a lesson, a sermon, a treatise, a discourse, a debate or a clinical diagnosis. It is a drama. The word "drama," of which the significance sometimes seems to have been forgotten or ignored, means something made, done, performed; something that occurs in action. The fact, Mr. Thomas, in writing this play, distinctly and brilliantly exemplifies. The action of "The Witching Hour" begins with the first line and ends only with the last one; so that, in its pivotal passages, it could be comprehended almost without the use of words. The subject of the play is the influence of mind upon mind, independent of the usual methods of communication. By means of the well-knowned sonnet, "The subject is new to the stage, and the novel treatment of it by Mr. Thomas makes his drama one of engrossing interest. The period of "The Witching Hour" is today; the action passes in two rooms, one in Louisville, the other in Washington. The characters are distinct, individual, veritable. The pivotal incident is an unpremeditated, unintentional homicide. The situations are essentially dramatic; they occur in a sequence, each arising as a natural result of its predecessor, and the exposition of them is skillful and imaginative.

The company to be seen in this city is composed of many excellent players. Among its members are Howard Gould, Edward Reed, Robert Hunter, Eleanor Hirschberg, Alma Chester, Eleanor Barry, Janet Dunbar, Franklin Jones, George Howell, Chas. Malles, Frederick Roberts, W. C. Bristol, S. Kent, W. P. Jackson and J. L. Wilson. The scenic environment and stage equipment are promised to be elaborate and handsome.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

A. H. Woods will produce "Louie" in New York in February. Anna Laughlin has taken Mabel Harrison Howard's place with Joe Howard's place in his vaudeville sketch. Max Hoffman, the musical director of "The Mistle World" imagines himself to be the originator of ragtime music. When "The New Lady Hamlet" was first given in London, it was called "Penny and the Servant Problem" and was believed to be a serious play. It is told of them, the dancer, that declined an offer of $5,000 to appear for ten minutes at a pink tea in New York's swiftest. Before leaving England Charles Frohman acquired the American right of production of "The Big Lighthouse" and he intends to perform the play in New York and Chicago. "The Whirlwind," by Herbert Swears, recently produced in London by Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, turns out to be the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brundage's comedy "A Corner in Coffee." London critics speak highly of Mrs. Patrick Campbell's performance of the heroine's part in "Delirio," a one-act tragedy in verse by W. B. Yeats, which she produced recently at the New Theatre. Henry Miller's second company of associate players, presenting "The Servant in the House" in Western cities, was so successful in Grand Rapids, Mich., usually a one-night stand, that they played there a week. It is reported on good authority that James O'Sullivan has broken with McKee Rankin, for twelve years her manager, and will after this play enter the management of the Shubert's. She will soon appear in a new play under her own management. "Eddie" Hana, formerly a stock actor in the West, will be the leading support of Charlotte Walker in Eugene Walter's "The Eastward Way" under Holmes's management. He has changed his stage name, at Holmes's suggestion, to Edward H. Robbins. George B. Miller, who plays the part of Juke Martin in "Checkers," has never played a part without a title. He played the part of Col. Sept in "The Prisoner of Zenda" and appeared more than 500 times as Col. Mohrly in "Alabama," the famous Western play. Gertrude Hoffman, who is a San Francisco girl, says she obtained her first dancing lessons in the Presentation convent in San Francisco, where she attended for her education. Her girl friends taught her the steps in return for solutions of mathematical problems. That Morrison's "Fanny" has lost none of its power to attract is evident by the success of the play on its present western tour. Miss Rosabel Morrison, daughter of Louie Morrison, is the sponsor for the revival of that popular play and she has made a marvelous hit with her venture. Miss Helen Ormsbee, who is to be seen this season for the first time in the role of Port, in "Checkers," the well-knowned racing play, is one of the youngest leading women on the stage today. She is the daughter of Hamilton Ormsbee, the dramatic editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, and possesses unusual talent and a good stage figure.

Philosophical.

The only woman that any man will acknowledge as his superior is his mother. Therefore to be truly appreciated every woman should have a son. A husband knows, too, when his wife is wonderful, but something keeps him from saying so. Makes him look less wonderful, and that's not proper over-exchange. Must Be Hard Work. In Russia there is a cheap reaping machine which has a reel, but no automatic rake. A man sits on the platform and takes off the grain with a pitchfork. The name of this machine is "lobovodka," and since "lobo" means "brow," and "vodka" is "a heater," the whole can be translated "brow-sweater."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janeville Daily Gazette, January 7, 1869.—Charming. With truth this adjective can be applied to the weather of yesterday and today. It has even fooled the blue boys into indulging in a spring concert in full dress. They may be excused for this little indiscretion in view of the fact that the thermometer indicated 45 degrees above zero this afternoon.

The Disturbing Telephone.
"The telephone has destroyed all the privacy of society," said the society girl. "It breaks in on everything. Nothing is sacred to it. You may be saying your prayers. The telephone, or in the midst of your bath. The telephone. Or doing up your back hair, or, worst of all, a delightful man may be making love to you; when killing, killing, killing! The telephone breaks up the thread of his theme and he falls to resume it."

Get What You Ask For

There are many reasons why you ask for advertised articles, but absolutely none why you should let a substituting dealer palm off something which he claims to be "just as good" or "better" or "the same thing" as the article you requested. The advertised article must of necessity be of the highest quality, otherwise it could not be successfully sold and the advertising continued. The buying public recognizes the superior quality of advertised articles. The substitutor realizes that fact and tries to sell inferior goods on the advertiser's reputation. Wagner Fooled the Critics.

Here is a story of Wagner's visit to London in 1855. After the first Philharmonic concert the critics reproached him for conducting a Beethoven symphony without the score. At the second concert, to satisfy his audience, Wagner had a "partition" on his desk, which he frequently consulted. The critics declared the improvement was marked. The score, however, was Rosini's "Barbier de Seville."

Peat.

A vegetable substance found amidst much moisture, as in marshes and morasses, and made up of roots, stems and fibers in every stage of decomposition. Then cut and dried it is often used for fuel in many places where coal and wood are scarce. The use of peat as fuel in the distillation of Scotch whisky gives it its peculiar flavor.

UNIVERSITY IS TO HAVE GOOD TEAMS

Athletics Take on Renewed Interest With Approach of Season's Work.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Jan. 7.—Athletics at the University of Wisconsin are picking up. The basketball team is making its first appearance in the Madison arena at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., late in June was started this week, track work is moving along slowly in the way of preliminary work for the indoor contests and the intercollegiate meets of the spring. Baseball has not been started because that pastime is in danger of being abandoned. The candidates for the crew are reported daily to Coach E. H. Ten Eyck for light work in setting up exercises and easy form rowing on the machine. The prospects for a strong variety crew this season are said to be bright. Five members of last year's eight are back and have reported as candidates for the boat, being E. A. Dinet of Joliet, Ill., stroke and captain; John W. Wilcox of Milwaukee, No. 4; Robert Jacklich of Cranston, No. 2; and H. A. Summich of Bonduel, Iowa. D. H. Witte, G. G. Wilder and E. J. O'Ryan, No. 6, No. 7, and coxswain, respectively last year, have graduated, and C. E. Drouter, No. 5, is ineligible on account of the three-year rule, leaving four places to be filled. For these positions there is abundant apparently good material. E. J. Stohberg and S. J. Kory, substitutes last season, are candidates for two of the oars left by the graduates, and there are other promising oarsmen available from the last freshman eight of 1908. Four candidates have reported to try for the position of coxswain—E. L. Knobel of Milwaukee, W. H. Richardson of Milwaukee, Paul J. Morris of Congress Park, Ill., and P. E. Bates of Madison. Candidates for the new, freshman crew number more than one hundred, but they have already been sifted down to thirty-two of the most promising and these are working in four crews at the machine. Eighty others are being carried along with work twice a week to supply material for vacancies on the four leading crews.

The Wisconsin basketball team is out after the western championship in earnest. The squad has had two try-out games, with Lawrence and Ripon colleges, and the work is pronounced by Coach Rogers and Noyes to be of such grade as to promise strong contests with the other bidders for the western intercollegiate championship. The squad was strengthened this week by the addition of "Jack" Wilcox, football captain of next season, and Bob Noy, a clever player. Wilcox was a star basketball player in his high school days at Milwaukee, and was a substitute on the varsity five last season. He is said to be the equal of Ewald Stohm, Wisconsin's great center last year, and of Schommer of Chicago. He played football on the Badger team at full-back for two seasons.

Baseball at the University of Wisconsin is in dispute with the faculty and is not supported by a determined movement on the part of the students. This has always been a losing game at Wisconsin, but in the years when football netted thousands of dollars profit, the gridiron receipts were drawn upon to maintain the national game. Now it is believed that if baseball is maintained it must pay its own way, and as this is apparently impracticable, the sport may be dropped entirely. Indeed, the proposal is made by the authorities that if the students will voluntarily agree to confine baseball to inter-class games and leave out all intercollegiate baseball contests, the lower campus will be fitted up as a baseball park for the class contests. The faculty believes that the development of less than a score of the best baseball players of the university, to be sent out on a few enjoyable and expensive trips and play a few home games will not be wise, but that inter-class games can be maintained to engage a large number of students, it will be worth while. The class game idea, with the abandonment of intercollegiate baseball, is strongly in favor.

Since the advent of the Madison city team in the Wisconsin-Illinois baseball league, few people have cared to see the college games, and they have practically been a dead loss. The Madison, Oshkosh, Rockford, and Green Bay teams of this league are in fair shape to begin work as soon as spring opens, but as to the other four teams there is some doubt. La Crosse fell below the attendance requirements and will probably not have a team this year. Preppert did likewise, but local fans have dug up some money and the franchise of that town will probably be preserved for another season at least. W. C. Reeling, owner of the Fond du Lac team, wants to sell out, but local enthusiasts are stepping in to keep up the team. Wausau is having a local struggle to continue, and Racine and Appleton are knocking at the gate of the league.

COURT'S DECISION IS MOST IMPORTANT ONE

Ruling of Supreme Court on Co-Employe Law is Far-reaching in Its Results.

By the decision of the state supreme court in declaring the co-employe law passed by the last legislature unconstitutional an important ruling has been made in this important matter.

The case came to the supreme court on an appeal from the decision of Judge Hastings at Green Bay, overruling a demurrer to the constitutionality of the "co-employe law," chapter 254, laws of 1907. The railroad claimed the law was unconstitutional as class legislation, and the case went to the highest court without the matter being taken up.

Briefly the case concerns Kelley, a laborer for the railroad, who was told to pull some staples out of a fence post which held a piece of barbed wire. As Kelley advanced to pull out the staple with a hammer, two fellow employes took the wire and forcibly pulled a staple from the post, the staple landing in Kelley's eye. Kelley sued for $15,000. The law provided:

"Every railroad company shall be liable for damages for injuries sustained by any of its employes, when such injuries shall have been caused by any officer, agent, servant or employee, when engaged in the line of his duty as such, and when such injury shall have been caused in whole or greater part by other agent, servant or employee of such company in the discharge of his duties as such. The provisions of this act shall not apply to employes working in shops or offices."

"The exemption of shop and office employes from the operation of the law seems an appropriate one, because they are not engaged in that part of the business," says the decision of the court, "nor does their conduct bear so directly in securing the safety of the public."

In the matter of classification the court holds that securing the safety of the public as well as the protection of its employes are the basis upon which the validity of the legislation in them is sustained.

The law is taken up by Judge Stohberg and analyzed paragraph by paragraph. Justice Marshall dissents.

"The Flower of the Ranch" Was Production—Between-act Specialties Much Liked.

Last evening at the Myer's Theatre, the Lattimore and Leigh Stock company gave "The Flower of the Ranch." The cold weather somewhat lessened the size of the crowd but a fair-sized audience was present which applauded vigorously the good work of the troupe.

Miss Mae LaPorte starred as Itoxy, the boss of the Ranchman's fleet. Al Warner as usual took the leading role as Jack Delmore, the road agent. Ralph Brown as Larkie, short sheriff of the Blanco county, brought out clearly and conclusively the character of that gentleman.
